A HOT TIME!

Lewisport Gives An Up-to-date Street Fair and Industrial Parade.

A DAY OF UNMIXED PLEASURE.

Three Thousand Happy People Participate in Her Hospitality.

EVERYTHING WAS LOVELY!

The Band Played and the Populace and Visitors Give Themselves to a Day of Merriment.

SOME SWIFT BICYCLE RACES.

Town Crowded by People From Indiana and Towns in Breckinridge, Hancock and Daviess Counties.

Town Covers Itself with All Kinds of Glory—No Accidents or Unpleasant Features.

Lewisport, Hancock county, takes the cake. In fact she is entitled to the whole bakery.

On Thursday, August 25, she demonstrated to the world that she is the most up-to-date and wide-awake community for her size in the Universe.

On that day she held her great street fair and industrial parade.

Her merchants showed that they appreciated the trade of their country customers and so they just threw the gates open and gave 8,000 visitors the freedom of the city and entertained them in royal style. No expense was spared and no means neglected that would promote the happiness and enjoyment of the city guests.

It seemed as though every resident of Lewisport had resolved himself into a committee of one whose duty it was to give every stranger a cordial greeting and see to it that he or she drank copiously of the fountain of pleasure.

The whole affair was a glorious success. It would have reflected credit upon Louisville or Evansville. It was a splendid exemplification of public spirit and local pride and it just covered that beautiful little town with a halo of glory.

From dewy morn till late at night the city spread itself in providing fun and amusement for its guests and there was not a dull hour during the long day.

The event just took people's breath away for its magnificence and joyousness and when the sober moment came those who witnessed and participated in the carnival of happiness, wondered how it all could be and passed themselves how so small a town (numerically) could give birth to so gigantic an affair. It did seem as though the town had labored and brought forth a mountain. The only explanation to the mystery is that Lewisport is the biggest little city on earth.

Every mother's son, or daughter, who partook of the community's hospitality during the day went away in love with the place and will sing its praises with the eloquence born of grateful enthusiasm for years to come.

THE CROWD.

THE PARADE.

It Was Remarkably Well Behaved.

Was a Thing of Beauty and Joy Forever.

Not an Incident Occurred That Detracted from the Pleasures of Visitors.

The number of people entertained by the city was conservatively estimated at 8,000.

They came from nearby towns and from the country. Some came alone, some horseback, others in every manner of vehicle and large parties were brought by the trains.

The people began to come in early in the morning and by eleven o'clock the streets and sidewalks were jammed by the happiest, most good-humored and jovial bunch of people that ever was attracted by a similar gathering.

It was a well-dressed, intelligent and prosperous looking crowd and it behaved itself splendidly. It was bubbling over with mirth, gaiety and enthusiasm.

It was not a drowsy crowd. There had their eyes keenly whetted for enjoyment and they got it to regale.

It was an orderly crowd and the tough and drunkard was conspicuous by his absence. All the city marshal had to do was to look his averted. The visitors joined heartily in imbibe the high-toned spirit of the town and were on their best behavior.

After the parade by the children

parades were made to pull off the grand races. The contest was opened by the city marshal, in charge of an expert, who put to work. In a short time a fast track was made and all was ready.

An immense crowd of people gathered at the starting point and surrounded the course.

The first two races were speedy and created great excitement. The last one was a slow race and the crowd had grown fat over it.

The winners of the bicycle races were as follows:

Open Race—Ivor, of Cincinnati.

Hancock County Race—Charles Hawley, of Hawesville.

Lewisport Race—Ted Deane.

Slow Races—Jesse Carter, Hawesville.

As attendants children dressed as wood-splinters, rives and fairies.

The different features of the parade were loudly applauded by the immense crowds gathered along the line of march.

All those present could not help but do justice to Lewisport's enterprise, and all agreed that Louisville, Owensboro and Henderson were not in it for a minute by comparison.

Some of the attractive bits of the parade were made by the children of the Lewisport Band, who put on a show on which real "Lewisport Sweeps the Country," "Lewisport is the Leading Town in the County."

FORMATION.

The Line of March and Divisions.

Many Handsome and Unique Features in Line.

The parade was formed on Market street and marched in the following order.

FIRST DIVISION.

Horse Smith, Marshal.

Staff.

Squadron of Rough Riders and Shot Gun Brigade.

THE CHILDREN'S BRIGADE.

While the concert was still in progress Manager E. S. Wattis appeared on the parade ground at the head of his "children's Brigade."

The little ones were dressed in the gayest array and they kept step and marched with the precision of veterans.

They were put through a series of military maneuvers which they performed with amazing skill.

THIS IS THE BIRD THAT SCREAMED AT LEWISPORT.

IN GALA ATTIRE.

Lewisport Had on Her Best Bib and Tucker.

Flags and Bunting Gave the Town a Festive Appearance.

Lewisport had on her Sunday clothes from flags and standards galore that fluttered in the breeze.

The national colors were in evidence everywhere and thousands of yards of bunting were used by the patriotic people for decorative purposes.

The beautiful appearance presented helped to heighten the enjoyment of the visitors and served to make enthusiasm contagious.

Everyone was charmed by the scenes of festive gaiety and all were load in their praise of the efforts of the original.

A striking feature of the whole affair was the remarkable good taste that was exhibited in all the decorative work.

There was no gaudy era score. Every opportunity for artistic display had been seized and the effects produced were in all cases beautiful and harmonious.

This display proved beyond the shadow of a doubt that Lewisport people possess more than the ordinary share of culture and refinement.

THE BICYCLE RACES.

After the parade by the children

parades were made to pull off the grand races. The contest was opened by the city marshal, in charge of an expert, who put to work.

In a short time a fast track was made and all was ready.

There were many unique features in the parade. The Pall Brothers had a particularly brilliant house on float, a man weighing a ton, drew a diminutive peasant rooster weighing about 100 pounds; two pretty little girls were dressed in Japanese costumes and were riding in a jinrikisha, drawn by four boys of different hues of complexion; a beautiful lady dressed in a graceful costume had a band of musicians charged rappresenting "Cuba Libre" and waved the long star flag of the "Queen of the Antilles"; a milie had a float that was a perfect fairy bower; John Adams, a prosperous farmer, had his barouche gaily painted and rode in the parade with his wife and two sons; and she was appropriately labeled "Adams Express Company."

The parade was a revelation of the beauty of color. Some of the floats were real works of art. They were as pretty as pictures and were masterpieces of decorative talent.

Mrs Agnes Wattis was "Queen of the Harvest." She is a young lady of exquisite beauty and composure a float that was prepared to fill orders for any quantity of coal at the very lowest prices.

It was an superior grade and steam coal as it was made from the best and produces but very little ash, and it burns hot from six months or any foreign substance.

It is an absolutely pure coal and Mr. Knight, in conversation with a News reporter, said he was prepared to fill orders for any quantity of the fuel at the very lowest prices.

THE BUSINESS MEN'S ASSOCIATION, as well as the manager of the affair, E. S. Wattis, merit the approbation of all the people of Hancock county.

They have, by their unselfish methods, done more to draw the people of the town and country together than could all the speech-making of a thousand years.

They have demonstrated themselves to be broad-gauged unselfish business men and their faith in their town is being backed by works.

With that kind of a spirit behind it, the city of Lewisport is bound to grow and not only be the chief city of Hancock, but one of the chief cities of the Ohio Valley.

Lewisport owes to E. S. Wattis a rising vote of thanks.

Lewisport should also go before a looking glass and lift its hat to itself.

It certainly is the biggest little place in these diggings.

Royal makes the food pure, wholesome and delicious.

had an excuse to go hungry. The fact was that no one went hungry.

ENTERPRISING FIRM.

The firm of J. C. Poll, was especially public spirited. Their enterprize and liberality was every where apparent.

At the store, on the street and at the city hall one met their exhibits and was impressed by their energy and ability.

Both members of the firm dosed their time, money and labor to make the city a better place to live in.

Both are members of the band and closed their store at a great personal sacrifice to help furnish music.

They were represented in the parade by a huge float on which was a perfect representation of their five two-story residence house.

The specimen room was magnificently decorated, and each exhibit occupied a special room.

On one of the stands was a magnificent collection of Indian relics and souvenirs of the stone age. There were some arrow heads, feathers, hide dressers, hatchets, knives, mortars, pestles and all the implements and tools that savage and prehistoric man used in days of old.

Nothing was omitted that was of interest.

Poultry Show.

Geo. Yeager Exhibits His "Cherokees" Fowl.

The poultry show was very creditable. The principal exhibitor was Mr. George Yeager.

By the way, he had an exhibit that was of unusual interest to poultry fanciers.

He had three coops of his famous "Cherokees" strain of fowl.

They are an absolutely new breed and were originated by him.

Mr. Yeager has a fine flock and has bred with the strain for 15 years, and has at last produced a fowl that is perfectly true to color and markings.

They are uniform in line and the feathers are of a beautiful mouse color with a velvety lustre that makes it one of the handsomest domestic birds.

The chickens are distinctly American and their speckled feathers and their gamy appearance and hardy constitution make them the best all-purpose birds that can be raised.

They are fine range and beat any of the Asiatic or American breeds as broilers or egg producers.

Mr. Yeager was offered $35 for one coop of his birds, but refused to sell.

BANK EXHIBIT.

Ben Polderer and the Bank of Lewisport were very much in evidence. Mr. Polderer circulated among the crowd of visitors and took upon himself to see that all enjoyed themselves.

The Bank of Lewisport had one of the most original floats in the parade.

On the float was a large amount of money and coins, and a number of men in top hats and dresses and drawn by a team of mounted runners and drivers by a make of money wagon.

It was the most solid and substantial appearing thing in the town and was typical of the magnificent financial institution it represented.

On the float was painted:

The Bank of Lewisport, Capital Stock $15,000,000, Capital Paid-in $10,000,000, Building Proof Visiting, Provided safety storage for stocks, bonds and valuable securities.

It was a very attractive feature and excited a world of favorable comments.

THE CONCERT.

After dinner the merry round of pleasure again began. The citoins appeared on the streets and the band chariot was driven up to the front of Poll's store end the Lewisport Military Band, dressed in natty white duck uniform, took its place.

A concert was given that was equal to any musical effort ever given in this section of the State.

The boys do not play old worn out pieces, but up-to-date concert music, and that they perform well goes without saying. This was one of the most enjoyable events of the day's program.

THE NIGHT PARADE.

At night there was an illuminated parade.

Floots decorated in every conceivable way and festooned with a myriad of lights, a multitude of balloons and bicycles whose revolving wheels formed circles of rare beauty, and a battalion of children dressed in hideous costumes and bearing gaudy lanterns made it seem like the triumphal march of some fierce queen.

It was a living picture of gaudy splendor and was a fitting epilogue to the chapter of Lewisport's history that was furnished by this red letter day.

SPRAY YOUR TREES

Spraying Increases The Market Value of all Fruit Crop

Large orchardists have estimated in the case of the apple crop that spraying will protect from fifty to seventy-five per cent of the fruit, while spraying will be worth $100 to $150 in the market price if increased at least $1, and sometimes as much as $2.50 per barrel, the cost of spraying being seven to eighteen cents per tree, including labor and spraying material. In the case mentioned by G. L. Marrett of Louisville, Kentucky, only one-tenth of his trees were sprayed, thus resulting in an increase in the yield of sound fruit in the portion treated of nearly fifty per cent, and an increase of the value of this fruit over the rest of 100 per cent. The loss from not having treated the other two-thirds was estimated at $100 per acre. This is the first crop and other small fruits frequently amounts to the securing of a peri-circus where otherwise no yield of sound fruit could be secured.—Massachusetts Fliegblatt.

SAVED OUR LIFE.

Do Not Neglect the Kidneys and Bladder.

Disorder of these important organs cause Bright's disease, rheumatism, pain in the back, droopy and other troubles. Disease sometimes gets a hold upon your kidneys and bladder before your rest is disturbed; that anything can be done to stop it. Other organs are neglected until they swing madly. Bright's disease, has fastened upon you, and death awaits its victim. Many miraculous cures have been wrought by a course of treatment with Dr. David Kidney, Louisville. There is no time to lose in the placing of this token, and the tonics have been pronounced by the best physicians of modern times to be the most direct in action on the kidneys of any remedy known to medical science. You can eat these tablets as you would candy. Send for free booklet on kidney diseases. Sold by all druggists, or sent on receipt of price 50 cents and $1.

THE OLD-FASHIONED GIRL.

She Was a Young Girl at Fifteen Years of Age.

She was a little girl who she was fifteen years old, and then she helped her other in her household duties. She'd her hours to play, and enjoyed herself to the fullest extent. She never did her mother, "I don't want to," for wednesday was her chattered day. She wrote to her mother, "I am not well, and my mother does not let me go up in carriage-papers and crimpings, or headed over her shoulder. She did not grow into a young lady and talk about her before she was in her teens, and she did not read dime novels, nor was she fancying a hero in every boy she met. She was modest in her demeanor, and she never talked slang or used words. She did not laugh at old people nor make fun of crippled.

She had respect for her elders, and she never listened to words of wisdom from those older than herself. She did not care much for her mother, but she did think that her judgment as good as that of her grandmother. She did not go to parties by the time she was ten years old and stay till midnight, dancing with clever young men who happened to be present. She went to bed in her room, and slept soundly, and slept the sleep of innocence, rose up in the morning, happy and capable of giving happiness. And now, if there is any old-fashioned girl in the world today, may heaven bless and keep her and rule up others like her.—Bishop Cosgrove.

It costs $70,000 to equip a regiment.

It is estimated that thirteen women so-called are worth $3,280,000. New York society could easily furnish, in case of necessity, from their jewelry alone, enough to completely supply fifty-two regiments of soldiers, or twelve more regiments than there are in the regular army of the United States, cavalry, artillery and infantry.—W. ## SHIFTING THE BLAME.

Papers and Citizens Accuse City Officials

OF DISCREDITING THE CITY OF LOUISVILLE.

They are Responsible for the Boycott Instituted Against Kentucky Asphalt.

THE NEWS STIRS THEM ALL UP.

What the Editors of the Dispatch and Post Say—An Alderman Gives His View.

THE News has fought hard and unceasingly to lift the boycott instituted by the city officials of Louisville against Kentucky asphalt, a product of Breckinridge county.

Its editorial utterances have stirred others to action and the following are some of the comments provoked.

GOOD CITIZENS.

Of Louisville Trying to Build up The City And The State.

Source of our Back-suspension News—I am in Louisville. I copy of your issue of the 25th inst., and have read with some interest your criticism of Mr. Wm. A. Robinson's article. Some of the points you make about our good city are well taken, and we would doubtless appreciate the adoption of your suggestion, such as rearing to the use of Kentucky products for making our streets, and placing restaurants upon contractors, monopolies and designing politicians.

I beg to remind you however, notwithstanding the statement made by our good city, that there is quite a number of our citizens who are honestly and energetically doing all in their power not only to build up the metropolis of the State, but at the same time to develop the various resources of the whole State of Kentucky. I may remind you that some such people are often called "the backbone" of a community, if you will read the proceedings of the board of commissioners, you will observe that the interest in your county's product, viz., "Breckenridge Asphalt," has figured quite prominently. If the owners and agents of the Kentucky Asphalt Company put forth much real and eager in pushing their business enterprises as has been exhibited by some of their rivals, whom you refer to as "monopolies," there is good reason to hope that the Kentucky Rock Asphalt Company or Companies may monoponize the street paving business of Louisville.

The Louisville Post, which has been fighting the asphalt combine in a vigorous manner for months, in an editorial headed, "The State Must Be Heard," says, in part:

"Here in Kentucky we have deposits of asphaltic rock which makes the best streets in the world. Altogether the best streets in Louisville have been made with this material, as will any wide and comfortable street in the Third Street district."

If here in Louisville we desire an open door to the rock asphalt of Kentucky, we open the door ourselves, and develop immensely one of the natural resources of Kentucky, benefiting alike our city and the people of Kentucky.

The significant protest is organized by the people of Louisville and the people of Breckinridge county. Our own officers discredit the city through out the State by boycotting this Kentucky product.

"As long," say the Breckinridge county News, "as Louisville will discriminate against Kentucky asphalt, the State of Kentucky then that long will it stand in the way of our own growth."

The provincialism of Louisville has made it obstinate. Were the city to have it way in all things the State would be subordinate to its chief municipality. That is to say, in the lexicon of Louisville, apparently."

There are bitter words, more bitter than the occasion justifies, for it is not Louisville that is boycotting the State in this matter, it is a few men in public positions who refuse to redeem promises made and implied when they were appalled in their office.

The taxpayers of Louisville are enraged against this combine, and are contending for their own interest, for the interests of Kentucky end for the interest of good city government elsewhere.

Though according to the report of the Inspector of Mines in Kentucky, we have in this State a deposit of the best paving material of the world, which if developed would destroy the asphalt combine in every city in the Union, yet at the behest of the Barber Company, and to protect its interests, the city of Louisville bequeaths the state.

Let me suggest another reason why the city of Louisville has not thought of disengaging from this time-honored family union of Kentucky and Louisville. A large per cent of the successful business men in Louisville are but the elder brothers of those living in the country. Their talents and energy sought a field of operation and industry, and whatever works for the good of one, redounds to the glory of the other. The children of the union, whether they choose to live in the town or in the country, should dwell together in peace, and work for the welfare of the whole, and for the welfare of the community, yet when a "strong pull and pull altogether," we can remove the hideous mountains that your fancy sees in the pathway of Kentucky and Louisville.

Let me suggest another reason why the city of Louisville has not thought of disengaging from this time-honored family union of Kentucky and Louisville. A large per cent of the successful business men in Louisville are but the elder brothers of those living in the country.

THE BRECKENRIDGE NEWS.

JNO. D. AND V. G. BABBAGE, Editors and Proprietors.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 31, 1896.

EIGHT PAGES.

AS TO THE ASPHALT CONTROVERSY.

The News, in waging its fight against the Barber Asphalt monopoly does not seek to entangle the country from the town. It does not seek to array Breckenridge county against Louisville. It is the fact that some of the people who are most loyal to Louisville, to Breckenridge and who are fighting the most deserve their best resources are Louisville people.

If it is a fact, however, that the friends of the country are in the minority, Louisville will stand condemned as long as the apathy of the majority of her people prevents them from putting an end to the acts of her public officials who are discriminating in favor of the Barber Asphalt monopoly and against a Kentucky product.

The apathy of the people of Louisville in this matter pales than in the position of acknowledging to the boycott that has been instituted against Kentucky asphalt. They seem to be giving passive consent to the injustice and it is this lack of interest that gave birth to the charges of selfishness made by us against Louisville.

We recognize the fact that the leading members of the commercial clubs and in fact, all the best citizens are in favor of Kentucky asphalt an equal show with all others. We know, too, that these same gentlemen are predisposed toward J. K. Barber's products and favor a broad policy of reciprocity with the business world that sentiment seems to lack the solidarity that is essential to making it a vital force.

The good citizens seem to be impotent. Lum Simon seems to have a greater pull and larger influence than they.

Breckenridge county is grateful to the Louisville council boards for the many stand they have taken in favor of free and unrestricted competition in street paving contracts. Both boards contain clean, patriotic, public-spirited members and their manifold devotion to the best interests of Louisville redounds to the credit of the county.

We direct the attention of the Board of Public Works to the council boards and admonish them "go them, and do likewise."

We are inclined to believe that the Board of Public Works has been deceived as to the nature of the Barber Asphalt monopoly. The board does not seem to be aware of the fact that the Barber monopoly is a typical combination of the English, Belgian and Persian asphalt companies all under one roof.

The managers of the Barber asphalt are the same as the Barber asphalt.

They are named after the first

Pulte car that the manager happens to see and the change in company serves the same purpose as does a wolf's robe over the shukking Indian that seeks to scare his quarry by subterfuge and strategy.

Please, Board of Public Works, open your eyes and see a few things.

PULTEZIE the asphalt monopoly.

Tax new platform, "the earth is ours, and the futility thereof," is typically American. It is the platform of the expansionists.

Irregular would remain true to the bond of union, that cementers her to the country, she will exemplify the doctrine of reciprocity.

LAWSPORT is figuring on giving another street fair next year. If she does she will have to put up extra side-boards on her chariot of progress to hold the crowds.

SPAIN is an unpleasant neighbor to have. If we demand only the island of Lason and allow her to keep the rest of the Philippines it is only a question of time when we will have to whip her again.

These are two Republican candidates for congress in the second district. The Jolly and Fowler factions split at the Henderson convention and each nominated a candidate. Jolly, it is alleged, was tricked out of the nomination.

WHAT THEY SAY.

WASHINGTON, D. C., "The Lincoln."

EDITOR NEWS—Included you will find $100. I suppose this is what I own, if more let me know, please. I do want the News another year as I do now in it of interest to me than all the Washington papers. Hope you will be well this hot summer. Very truly yours,

RALPH E. MILLER.

The J. C. Ayre Co., Manufacturing Chemists, Lowell, Mass.

NASHVILLE, KY.—GENTLEMEN: You are doing excellent work.

Now—This is one of the largest patent medicine houses in the world and the firm spends hundreds of thousands of dollars annually for advertising. Words of commendation from such a source speak volumes.

HODGE'S PILLS are prompt, efficient, always reliable, easy to take and easy to operate. 25¢.

Bright Prospects.

H. V. Duncan tobacco huy for H. Sheldon Jarvis was out through Hancock county Monday insuring the wood. Mr. Duncan to a News reporter said, "So far the crop in general surpasses many years cultivation and the outlook for a prosperous year to the farmer is very bright."

It's a Girl.

On Wednesday morning of last week the congenial home of Dr. and Mrs. M. S. Morris was the scene of rejoicing by the presence of a new granddaughter. Mrs. and Mrs. Latrice Tracy Reid are the proud parents of a fine girl, who has been given the pretty name of Martha Francis.

Free Medical Advice

You need a doctor many times when you don't call one. You suffer pain in fifty different ways, and you don't know why, because you hope that the pain "will go away after a while." And, too, you know by experience that the first time you call a doctor is generally followed by many others, with the inevitable consequences of a big bill. You don't know what to do for yourself or what to take.

But suppose that you could get free, absolutely free, the advice of one of the most

SUCCESSFUL OPENING.

School Begins With a Large Attendance.

Sketch of the Erudite Principal, Prof. S. H. Hancock.

The substance at the opening of the Cloverport High School, Monday, was the educational affairs on the part of our people.

The school census for this district shows there are 87 children of school age within the corporate limits of the city.

Prof. S. H. Hancock, the principal of the school, gave a speech of welcome, organization and introduction of his executive ability. He was born at Littleton, Marion county, March 19, 1857.

He is the son of Samuel and Susan Hancock. He attended the district schools of his town until he was twelve years of age, when he was compelled to leave at home and help care for a family of thirteen children.

During his boyhood, he taught several terms during the fall and was compelled to burn the midnight oil to keep up with his studies. He afterward pursued his studies at the Normal and Advanced Academies, which had removed to Lebanon and took a post graduate course.

He has taught in public and private schools in the state for the past twenty years. Nine years of that time he was spent as principal of the Sheepherder Academy, the Normal department of which he organized, and the most successful teacher pursuing their profession in this and other countries.

Prof. Hancock is a self-made man and Cloverport is fortunate in having so able an educator at the head of her school.

PROF. S. H. HANCOCK.

This is a splendid showing for the first day. It indicates an increased interest.

The Eagle And The Vulture.

Said she vulture so the eagle :
"I'm a shooting straight at you."
"Whoopsie! Youker Doodie do!"
Then the eagle and the vulture
had a long talk, a sign of vulture
To be noticed anywhere.
Have a heap of bloody feathers,
Over the heights of Samiega,
Screaming : "Yankie Doodle!"

Said Carver in the morning :
"I'm a shooting straight at you."
"Whoopsie! Youker Doodie do!"
Then the eagle and the vulture
had a pretty fight,
And it ended in Carver's
Being in the reddest plume.
They had a long talk, a sign of vulture
To be noticed anywhere.
Have a heap of bloody feathers,
Over the heights of Samiega,
Screaming : "Yankie Doodle!"

Said Scherry to read Carver :
"I won't do anything to you."
"Whoopsie! Youker Doodie do!"
Then the eagle and the vulture
had a long talk, a sign of vulture
To be noticed anywhere.
Have a heap of bloody feathers,
Over the heights of Samiega,
Screaming : "Yankie Doodle!"

Said Scherry to read Carver :
"I can't catch 'em in a year."
Said Hill Shafter to Lineray :
"I can't catch 'em in a year."
Then Bill Shafter gave Lineray
Several verbal heavy whacks.
Said Hill Shafter to Lineray :
"Where the chicken got the ax."
Thereupon Bill Shafter's fighters,
Café Custer, and the like,
Said Hill Shafter July morning :
"Hah for Yankie Doodle-doo!"

Why Beef Has As Upward Trendacy.

The probabilities are that the price of beef will rise, not from any artificial causes, but because the live cattle are on the up grade.

The demand is good and the supplies of desirable animals are not excessive.

There is more beef consumed by the armies in the field, or rather by the rebels in the field, than by the men in the field.

If there was no war the men composing the armies were at home.

The waste is more and that tends to increase the consumptive demand.

There are plenty of cattle in the West, although fewer than ten years back, but there are many of them that are not being used now, nor will they be for some time.

This statement is verified by the fact that the receipts of cattle are smaller than at the same time last year. Last month the receipts of cattle at Kansas City, Missouri, and Louisville, Kentucky, were 34,000 less than in June, 1885, while the hog deficiency was 45,741, and that of sheep 5,070, so that there were fewer animals slaughtered in the West in June 1885 than in the same month last year.

Not only were the number of cattle marketed smaller, but being lighter in weight, the market value increased in addition, a large number of pounds of beef than if they had been of the usual weight in previous years.

Consumers of beef, and they include practically the bulk of the population of the United States, are divided into classes, and in consequence the waste are varied. The waste are for the well-to-do, those in moderate circumstances, and the very poor, and the prices vary in proportion to the quality. Meat-eaters, however, when the price of some kind becomes too high, can make a change to a cheaper kind, as was the case with the increased price of bacon, except when the price of wheat advances too greatly.

The cattle raisers are doing well these days, after the long period of depression, and while they are realising fair prices, it is because the slayers are forced to pay them, in accordance with the law of supply and demand.—St. Louis Butchers' and Packers' Magazine.

Marvel: of a Graphophone.

One of the wonders of the end of the century is the Graphophone, which will reproduce any kind of music or any sound.

One can arrange a full program of the most attractive band, orchestra or vocal music and vary it every evening. On the Graphophone one can record the human voice or any sound, and reproduce it.

You can keep the voices of your friends to be heard whenever you wish. One can record any kind of entertainment can be bought as low as $10. Write for catalogue 30 to the COLUMBIA PHONOGRAPH CO., No. 919 Pennsylvania Ave., Washington, D. C.

Weekly Newsboys.

In consequence of the unprecedented demand for news in Chicago during the recent strike of the stereotypists many newsboys have been compelled to leave.

This was caused by hundreds about the wagon loads of papers brought in from neighboring towns, and by distracting the attention of the drivers, managed to steal, often the greater part of the papers, which they easily sold for 10 and some times 25 and 50 cents a piece. Some of them cost $1.00 a day and others twice their price by the time they reached the newsboys on the night of July 5.

An awfulness of a game played in an alley by newsboys on the night of July 5 testifies that not less than $5,000 changed hands there on die.

A BRAVE LAD.

Charlie Carter Describes El Caney's Battle.

Was One of the Heroes of the Three Day's Fight.

Another hero is from Breckinridge who was at Santiago, is Charlie Carter. Writing to his father he says :

"As you know by this time, the province of Santiago, also at 27,000 Spanish troops have surrendered to the United States."

We had a hard time forcing the capitulation but finally accomplished it.

I am a member of Co. C, 1st Infantry Regiment, United States Army. We had our first fight at El Caney and were in the three days battle of July 1st, 2nd and 3rd. We were in the battle of Siboney.

El Caney was a small village on earth.

El Caney is on a small hill and the one of death took in the whole hill upon which we charged. We never faltered and to prove the fact that fortuna favors the brave only one man was killed and one wounded on our company during the terrible charge in which each man counted double.

There is plenty of tropical fruit here, but it does not seem to be nourishing.

There is much sickness in the army.

At the hospital we have to care for the sick and, as you can see, we have gone through a hard time.

Miss Lilla Wheeler spent last Friday and Saturday with her sister, Daisy, of Cloverport.

Miss Viola Whitworth has returned home from an extended visit to her parents in Walnut Grove neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Payne, Harvard, are guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Jones, St. Louis, Mo.

It is the first opportunity I have had to write to you. Our try to get to Santiago was a horrid one. We were loaded on the transport ship Hudson and packed in like sardines. The poor health of the crew caused intense suffering and to add to our misery we anchored two days at Key West where we were broiled by a tropic sun. It was a beautiful sight to see our convoy, with its thirty or forty transport vessels riding the waves.

Rev. Dr. A. C. Gundlach is holding a protracted meeting at Union Star. We hope he will have success and open up the hearts of some of the people.

Louisville Hall, of Union Star, has opened the Look Out school. We are very glad to have him as our teacher, we hope he will have great success.

It is the first opportunity I have had to write to you. Our try to get to Santiago was a horrid one. We were loaded on the transport ship Hudson and packed in like sardines. The poor health of the crew caused intense suffering and to add to our misery we anchored two days at Key West where we were broiled by a tropic sun. It was a beautiful sight to see our convoy, with its thirty or forty transport vessels riding the waves.

I often raminated on the great cost of living in the United States.

After the terrible fight at El Caney,

we had a little time for rest.

El Caney is on a small hill and the one of death took in the whole hill upon which we charged. We never faltered and to prove the fact that fortuna favors the brave only one man was killed and one wounded on our company during the terrible charge in which each man counted double.

There is plenty of tropical fruit here, but it does not seem to be nourishing.

There is much sickness in the army.

At the hospital we have to care for the sick and, as you can see, we have gone through a hard time.

Barred Gong was the guest of Miss Corn Cooley Sunday eve.

Willie Walls has some attractions in the Shiloh neighborhood.

Henry French made a flying trip to Glendale a few days ago.

Tom Robinson was the guest of Miss Anna Clegg Sunday eve.

George Wagner and wife have been visiting his brother near Derby, Ind.

Miss Alta Crosson was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Hob. French, one day last week.

Miss Lilla Wheeler spent last Friday and Saturday with her sister, Daisy, of Cloverport.

Miss Viola Whitworth has returned home from an extended visit to her parents in Walnut Grove neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Payne, Harvard, are guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Jones, St. Louis, Mo.

THRIVING IRVINGTON.
Is to Have a Magnificent
New College.

Quite a Building Boom There this Year.

One of the most thriving and enterprising towns in the entire "Pannyville" is the little city of Irvington.

The commercial and industrial growth this season, and the building trades have prospered wonderfully.

Her latest enterprise is a new college.

The promoters are Messrs. J. J. Piggott and Wimp, and they have selected Prof. Clegg, a splendid educator, as the head of the institution.

They have begun the construction of the college building. It will be 24x85 in dimensions and is cost $1,400.

Dr. Moorman will build a handsome cottage in Wimpton addition, Irvington, in the near future. This residence will be quite commodious and tastefully fitted.

The new hotel building for Shubman & Company and the new bank institution is rapidly nearing completion. It will be a handsome modern office and will materially enhance the appearance of Irvington.

AN INSPIRATION.
Was the Choral Singing of the Childrens Choir.

The members of St. Rose's Catholic church were agreeably surprised Sunday by the delightful singing of the children's choir.

They rendered the high mass in a most beautiful manner and the harmonious blending of the fresh, sweet childish voices was a perfect symposium of melody.

The choir is the result of the splendid drill and training of Miss Anna May. It performs all the different parades of the musical school.

The children sing with perfect accord and all who heard them congratulate the congregation and compliment Miss May for her splendid ability and talent.

BABY'S SMOOTH, FAIR SKIN

A Grateful Mother Writes this Letter—Tell all about her Troubles when Baby grows up with Smooth Skin.

"At the age of two months my baby began to have severe break out on her light cheek. We used all the external applications that we could think or hear of,
to no avail. The sores spread all over one side of her face. We took her to a physician and tried his medicines, and in the time the sores were gone. But to my surprise in two weeks more another sore took hold now appearing on baby's face.
The sores were worse, and when he was three months old, I began giving him
Hood's Ear Salve. I also took Hood's Shaving Cream, and the sores were soon finished, the sores were well and have never returned. He is now four years old, but he has never had any sign of those terrible sores since, and is now cured by Hood's Ear Salve, for which I feel grateful. My boy owes his good health and smooth, fair skin to this great medicine." Mrs. S. S. WADDELL, Farmington, Delaware.

Only Hood's Ear
Salve prompt, efficient and safe. 25 cents.

Tom de la Hunt spent Sunday with a house party at "Meadow Law," the home of Mrs. Edna Longmire Bagot, near Rome. The other invited guests were Mrs. Harrison Jackson, wife of U.
S. Senator; Mrs. John G. Jones, wife of
M. Y. Jones, Attorney General of Louisville; Frank Marcer and Frank
Board, of Hardinsburg, Ky.—Cannelton Inquirer.

Excellent Improvements.

George Godwin is one of the most up-to-date farmers in this country, erecting a large circular silo on his farm near Lexington. He is also making arrangements to erect a powerful windmill, which, when completed will be attached to a large storage tank from whence water will be piped to his house and out buildings.

Circumstances.

J. W. Pate, of McQuady, has purchased seven car loads of wheat from the farmers of his neighborhood during the past week and in so doing has paid out over $2,000. He reports that the people in the neighborhood are in a condition of acute famine and also a great many farming implements with the expectation of putting in a large wheat acreage this fall.

STABBING AFFRAY.

Hancock Farmers Get Into a Fight
Over a Hog.

Joe Roberts and W. H. Q. Johnson, two prominent farmers living in the Yelington neighborhood in Hancock county, met on the road near their homes, Tuesday, and had some words concerning a hog.

Both men became incensed and resorted to their knives. Mr. Roberts pulled a knife from his pocket, it was alighted, and stabbed Roberts in three or four places. Two of the wounds are of a serious nature and renders Roberts' condition dangerous,
He may die.

Johnson surrendered to the authorities
Wednesday.

Made a New Man of Him

BAYAN, Ohio, Jan. 13, 1867.

Gentlemen:—I had been suffering from indigestion. Had a poor appetite and could not eat anything containing pepper, and had constantly a worn out feeling. After using various bottles of Dr. Collier's Remedy, I found it able to eat anything my appetite craves and can eat it has made a new man of me. Eat Bayan.—Chas. G. Martin,

COMMON SENSE TALK.How One Farmer Is Making Big Money.Has Adopted Modern and Scientific Methods.

A wonderful interest is now being taken in intensive farming in Breckinridge ridge.

The intelligent landowners have come to a realization of the fact that they must adopt the most modern methods of cultivation and the most scientific methods of economic farming to make the industry pay.

A man who is working on these lines is Mr. Clarkson who has a 60 acre farm under cultivation near Big Springs.

In an interview with a News reporter, he said, "I am now erecting a silo on my place. It is the most modern structure that has been devised and will be large enough to hold 10 acres of corn."

Last year I fed 240 head of cattle on pasture and it was the grandest and most successful experiment I ever tried.
My increased facilities this year will allow me to feed 300 head."

The cattle will get the benefit of every grain of nutrition there is in the corn stalks and ear.

"A most valuable feature of the plan is that it saves everything. I do not need any fertilizer as I get all the droppings from the cattle, which is nature's own recuperative product for the soil. I think that the small farmers would do well to adopt the silo. They can get far more money out of each stalk to feed stock than they can from the ear in the ear. It will give them a chance to haul up poor farms from the fertility that can be gathered from the silo."

As far as I can see, the plan is a success. Every farmer should have a good stock barn. The increased weight in cattle that results from their protection against severe weather will pay for the structure in time."

Mr. Clarkson had 175 acres in wheat this year and raised about 3,500 bushels of wheat on his place.

A Narrow Escape.

Fantastic words written by Mrs. Ada
E. Hart, of Grotton, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; hence I am confined to my bed in consequence. For Doctors say I must remain here for a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my natural ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, cough and colds. I gave him a bottle, took it in eight days and am now a well and healthy woman.
Triflery bottles free at Short & Haynes' drug store. Regular six 50¢ and $1.00. Guaranteed or price refunded."
